IMPORTANT SALE

Of Negroes, Mules, &c: 27th April next,

At Aiken, South Carolina.

THE undersigned having nearly completed their contract on the South Carolina Railroad, will positively sell, without reserve, on Tuesday the 27th day of April next, at Aiken, South Carolina, to the highest bidder:

120 NEGROES, 85 MULES, 3 HORSES,
9 CARTS AND HARNESS, 25 WHEEL-BARROWS, 100 SHOVELS.

Railroad Plows, Picks, Blacksmiths', Carpenters', and Wheel-wrights' Tools, &c.

Those negroes are beyond doubt the likeliest gang, for their number, ever offered in any market, consisting almost entirely of young fellows from the age of 21 to 30 years, some few boys, from 12 to 16 years of age, and four women. Among the fellows are first rate

BLACKSMITHS, CARPENTERS, COOPERS, BRICK-MOULDERS, WHEEL-WRIGHTS, AND WAGGONERS.

Among the women, one excellent Weaver and Seamstress, another one, a good Cook. All well trained and disciplined for Rail and Plankroad working, (having just completed a splendid piece of work at Aiken, S. C., under the management of a gentleman of very superior ability and experience, and well calculated to train them,) which makes them more valuable than untrained hands, to which we would respectfully beg leave to call the attention of those engaged in such enterprises.

The Mules are all stout, young, select, well broke and in fine order.

The Carts were gotten up by one of the best manufacturers in the State—Iron axles and not much injured by use.

We deem it unnecessary to say more, as the property will show for itself. Terms Cash.

WAKE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

RALEIGH, March 25th, 1853.

The Wake County Agricultural Society assembled in the Hall of the House of Commons, agreeably to notice, at half past 2 o'clock, P. M.

The proceedings of the previous meeting having been read, the President introduced Alphens Jones, Esq., who addressed the Association some thirty-five or forty minutes, on the importance of knowledge, science and practice, to the perfection and the advantages of the art of Agricultural pursuits, and the advantages of associated efforts in accomplishing agricultural improvements. His address was replete with instruction and cogent argument, beautifully illustrated, and was listened to by the audience with profound attention, and manifest evidences of delight.

After Mr. Jones had concluded,

Mr. Lemay rose and said, it was an important stage in the progress of this Association, and as he saw in the assembly a distinguished gentleman, the Rev. Dr. Mason, who had devoted much of his time to the study of subjects immediately connected with the object of this Society, it was his earnest desire that the gentleman would favor us with some remarks on the subject of Agriculture, and more especially on the improvement of the soil.

Dr. Mason responded to the call in an able and instructive speech of half an hour's length, in which he demonstrated the importance of success in agriculture to the permanent prosperity and independence of any community—showed in impressive manner the necessity that education should be directed to the improvement of the soil, and the duty of the Legislature to foster and encourage the Agricultural interests of the State, and the duty of the people to demand it. He showed the importance of the Agricultural Society, and the duty of every citizen to encourage it by his influence and example, and concluded by urging the necessity of the Society's having a permanent location, and the importance of the Society's owning a library, and the duty of the Legislature to foster and encourage it.

Mr. Lemay, from the Committee appointed to prepare a Constitution, &c., reported the following:

Constitution of the Wake County Agricultural Society.

NAME AND OBJECTS.

Art. 1. This Association shall be called the Wake County Agricultural Society. Its objects shall be to collect and diffuse information concerning Agriculture in the kindred arts; and to encourage and improve the same among ourselves.

MEMBERSHIP.

Art. II. Any person may become a member of this Society by paying one dollar as admission fee, and one dollar annually thereafter, as long as he continues to be a member, for the use of the Society, which shall have implied in the payment of the admission fee a copy of the Constitution, by subscribing his name to the same, and agreeing to conform to it.

Art. III. Any person may become a member of the Society, at such times and places as may suit their convenience, for consultation, discussion, &c.; and through their Chairman, make an annual report to the Society, of the experiments and progress of improvements in the precinct.

AMENDMENTS.

Art. IX. This Constitution may be amended by a vote of two thirds of the members present at any regular meeting, notice thereof having been given at a previous meeting.

The foregoing Constitution having been read, was unanimously adopted.

The Society then proceeded to the election of its officers for the ensuing year: Whereupon the following gentlemen were unanimously chosen:

Charles L. Hinton, President.
W. F. Collins, 1st Vice President.
Willis Whitaker, 2nd Vice President.
John Hutchins, 3d Vice President.
Jere Nixon, 4th Vice President.
Henry W. Montague, 5th Vice President.
Wilson Whitaker, Recording Secretary.

Dont only what you get.
Dont only what you need.
Dont only what you know you good.
Then you will have no cause to say,

Good Natured but Passionate. Addison has made the following observations on a class of persons with whom we occasionally come in contact. Though just, they are by no means flattering to the vanity of

"It is a very common expression, that such a one is very good natured, but very passionate. The expression, indeed, is very good natured to allow passionate people so much quarter. But I think a passionate person deserves the least indulgence of any. It is said it is soon over: that is, all the mischief he does is quickly dispatched, which I think is no recommendation in his favor. I have known one of these good natured passionate men say, in a mixed company, even to his own wife or child, such things as the most inveterate enemies of his family would not have spoken, even in imagination. It is certain that quick sensibility of affront is a strong natural propensity in the soil descend deeper from or come no nearer to the surface.

All this, it may be said, was very ridiculous. No doubt it was; as are the same vices, the results showed in Bisset's teaching of cats was a signal instance of his power to cultivate or eradicate a dark spirit in relation to slavery, whose gratification is sought in the pursuit of measures, and fell spirit in relation to slavery, whose only individuals but States have been possessed with

Since not half (an 18-lb. shot) from the Belvidere came over the waist-cloth of the President, and such was the force of the ball that it actually cut off, without throwing down the person of the gentleman, (An there by the stopper) upon six or eight inches in length—killed one marine—took off the brains of a midshipman, Mr. Montgomery—killed another, Mr. Beer, together with the quarter-gunner—and finally lodged upon the deck, and was taken below by the surgeon, Mr. Davis, who took it in his hand and wrote on it with chalk, "Cornelia," here received your present, and will return it again."—stopped it his Excellency that it killed several of the officers and men on board the Belvidere, and finally lodged in the cabin of that vessel, and was afterwards hung up in the Belvidere's cabin as a curiosity. The immense wealth of these cities, amounting to millions of dollars, will always enable them to defy competition in the trade of master slave; and we

It was all to try the right to freedom of a negro who belonged to Dr. Emerson, of Missouri, at its recent session decided a question in relation to the rights of master and slave, is much in a large number of negroes, which have grown luxuriantly, and the usual crops, which they may think proper and necessary to promote the objects of the Society. Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the Recording Secretary to keep a faithful record of the proceedings of the Society; notify meetings when duly ordered to try them.

Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of the Corresponding Secretary to assist the Recording Secretary, and in his absence perform the duties required of him; and attend to all moneys due the Society, and pay them over to the Treasurer, taking his receipt therefor; receive all moneys ordered to be paid by the Society; and perform such other duties as may be required of him by the Society.

Democratic Meeting in Buncombe.

A large and respectable portion of the Democrats of Buncombe assembled in the Court-House at Asheville on Thursday, the 1st inst., and organized a meeting by appointing David Roberts, Sr., Chairman, and Fort. J. Wilson, Secretary. On motion, Wm. H. Garnan, R. P. Wells and G. W. Hampton were appointed a committee to draft resolutions, who reported the following, which were read by Newton Coleman, Esq., and after a very appropriate and able speech from him, were unanimously adopted:

Judge Scott, treating of the decision of the Court before mentioned, says:

"The decision of that Court was pronounced by a divided bench, and the case carried before the Supreme Court of Missouri.

It is the trial in the case in the court below, the jury were instructed, in view of these facts, to find for the slave, that he was, by the being carried into Illinois and back to the State of Missouri, virtually set free. A new trial was moved for on the ground of misdirection by the Court, which being denied, a Writ of Error was taken, and the case carried before the Supreme Court of Missouri.

Resolved, That the Democracy of Buncombe adhere with unwavering fidelity to the cardinal principles of the political faith which Jefferson taught, and practice of the Federal Government, which forms a fundamental part of the creed of the Democracy, will alone maintain in their integrity the rights of the States, and by forbidding an attack against the centralizing tendencies of the Federal Government, preserve intact the Constitution of the Union.

Resolved, That we cordially invite the co-operation of our brethren in the other counties of the State, in the support of the Democratic candidates for the Governorship, and that we will support the nominee of the Democratic Convention which shall be held in the city of Baltimore on the 1st Monday in June next for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United States to be voted for in the ensuing Presidential election.

Resolved, That the Chairman of this meeting appoint ten Delegates to represent this County in the Convention to be holden in Raleigh on the 15th day of May for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for Governor; and that we hereby nominate Col. Frank. I. Wilson, Esq., of Rutherford, be empowered to cast the vote for Buncombe in said Convention.

The following were appointed Delegates to the State Convention: Col. Wm. H. Garnan, R. P. Wells, Esq., Newton Coleman, Esq., David Coleman, Esq., Col. J. R. Weaver, Col. G. W. Hampton, Maj. Col. J. R. Weaver, Col. G. W. Hampton, Maj. Solomon Carter, Henry Teague, Robt. Teague, James Alexander, Lewis Palmer, Jacob Martin and Jackson Shipman.

The meeting then adjourned.

MR. VENABLE.

The following remarks were made in the House of Representatives on the 26th of March, by Mr. Venable, of this State, the question under consideration being that part of the deficiency bill relating to the payment of annuities, &c. to the Indians. Mr. Venable has exposed, with a master's hand, the corruptions into which the General Government is sinking, owing to the faithlessness and dishonesty of its officers, and the influence exerted in Washington by agents of claims upon the Treasury. He deserves the thanks of the country for the patriotic boldness displayed by him on the occasion.

"Mr. Venable said: Mr. Chairman, I have no amendment to propose, and the debate on that under consideration being closed, I cannot proceed unless by the unanimous consent of the House.

[Cries of "Leave!" "Leave!" from all parts of the House.]

The Chairman. The gentleman can proceed only by unanimous consent of the committee. If there is no objection, the gentleman will proceed with his remarks.

Mr. Venable. I acknowledge my obligations to the committee for the courtesy extended to me on this occasion. There are some facts which ought to be brought to the knowledge of the committee and the country. Our constituents ought to know the fact that the Government here is to all practical purposes, in the hands of the claim-agents, the letter-writers, and the common plunderers. The penalty which any representative of the people has to pay for independent resistance to the plunder of the Treasury, or the protection of such unlucky claimants as may succeed in prosecuting a just demand upon the Government from the exactions of those who profess to be their agents, is to be slandered and assailed by all the hireling scribblers who are under pay to form public opinion, as letter-writers; to find himself denounced and black-balled in the penny press, and held up to the public as a just subject of opprobrium and reproach. I am not thin-skinned enough to feel such assaults, but take this occasion to express my contempt for them and their employers, whether it be claim-agents or the print-daubers of a venal press.

Unless the Government is rescued from such an unholy dominion, it must dissolve in its own corruption and imbecility. The poor Indian, after a prosecution of a just claim for a quarter of a century, with his papers withheld, and every obstruction placed in the way of its recognition, finds himself at last, when tardy justice is done, subjected to the demands of those harpies, who gather around the bureau which is to direct the payment, with caveats for services which have never been rendered, and a claim for half the amount, to be delivered to them. I speak by the card, and know what I say. It is insufferable that such practices should be tolerated. Who made the Departments of this Goverment the arbiters of such claims for compensation? How disgraceful is it to the country, that the just, the wronged claimant should be subjected to such exactions by the action of the Government itself. Sir, this is indeed filling the cup of bitterness to the brim. It is heaping outrage upon injury on the poor, the oppressed denizen of a country once his own. Can there be any reason why a claim, now allowed after twenty years' denial by the Government which owed it, should be curtailed by half, under the judgment of the Departments of the Government itself? The evil is a crying one; it has become an acknowledged truth, that a small, honest claim stands no chance of a hearing. The seaman's or the soldier's widow may, for years, knock in vain at the doors of the Treasury. Their claims are too small to admit of large fees, or expensive entertainments. The poor Indian, unused to those appliances, must surrender half of his right, or he cannot be heard. But large and annual spoliations, magnificent assaults upon the Treasury for steam lines, and other splendid schemes, find willing auditors and active agents, who surround the lobbies of this House like the vultures who fly in the rear of an army, always present, always importunate, and ever ready to plunge their beaks into their prey. There was, as I am informed, a bill passed by Congress not many years since, granting $112,000 to a tribe of Indians, as due by treaty, and these agents pocketed $56,000 of the amount. The whole scheme of plunder is reduced to a system, and those high in office are the efficient friends of the claimants for such exorbitant exactions. I have felt it my duty to speak plainly upon this subject. I am gratified for the courtesy of the committee, which allowed me the opportunity. I felt that it was the duty of some representative of the people to expose a system of organized operation, by which those who had just claims upon this Government, were to be the subjects of unjust exaction—by which the authors of those exactions were to be aided by the authority of the Government, and by which the representatives of the people were to be restrained from the denunciation of such abominations, under the terrors of a band of hireling calumniators. The people, sir, will put this matter to rights. All that is wanting is, that they should know the facts; and, knowing them, as I do, I would be unfaithful to withhold them from the country."

The New York Express, in an article headed "Politics North and South," pays the following compliment to the North Carolina Whigs:

"So also the gallant Whigs of North Carolina, towards whom every Whig in the Free States must feel an attachment of uncommon strength for their uniform defence of the honest, national, and patriotic sentiments of the Whigs of the North towards them and towards the Whigs of the whole Union. No amount of Southern fanaticism or Northern ultraism could make the Whigs of the old North State—the Mangums, the Grahams, the Moreheads, the Stanlys, and a host of other kindred spirits,—untrue to their brethren of the free States."

The last sentence, especially, is full of meaning. The Express is right—"the Mangums, the Grahams, the Moreheads, the Stanlys," and the Badgers will stick to their Northern allies, come what may. There is no doubt of it.

PLANK ROAD MEETING.

The Third Annual Meeting of the Stockholders of the Fayetteville and Western Plank Road Company was held in this place on Thursday and Friday last. Jonathan Worth, Esq., presided, and D. G. McRae and Jno. M. Rose, Esqrs, acted as Secretaries.

A large amount of the stock was represented. The State was represented by A. A. McKethan and Jno. H. Cook, Esqs.

There was no question, where there was any difference of opinion among the Stockholders, except the question of building the Summerville branch of the Company's Road, which question was referred to the General Meeting of Stockholders by the President and Directors. A resolution was adopted directing the President and Directors to construct the Summerville branch if $43,000 was subscribed and secured by the 1st of June next; otherwise all action was to cease.

The following are the officers of the Company for the ensuing year:

President, Edw'd Lee Winslow.

Directors.

We learn from the Frankfort Commonwealth, that Mr. Crittenden wrote a letter to a friend in Kentucky, requesting that his name should not be brought before the Whig Convention of that State, and expressing his preference for Mr. Fillmore. For this act, he receives the highest laudations from the Whig Fillmore press. Look back a few years, and it will be seen that Mr. Crittenden, as U. S. Senator, introduced a bill forbidding the poor office-holders to vote in elections, for fear of tainting the purity of the elective franchise by official interference. Now, however, we hear of this same gentleman, as Attorney General, using the high influence of his office in swaying public sentiment in behalf of the re-election of his Executive Head! Here is another Whig "principle" whistled down the wind! Rich. Enq.

On Tuesday the Cars on the Virginia and Tennessee Rail Road made their first trip to Liberty, 25 miles from Lynchburg, carrying up 6 or 700 persons of both sexes, Saunders' Brass Band, &c. The company enjoyed a sumptuous dinner at Terry's hotel in Liberty—and the country around had a great jubilee. Richmond Enquirer.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on Wednesday the 7th, Mr. Hale presented two petitions from the State of Pennsylvania, praying the repeal of the fugitive-slave law. He said that he intended to have made some remarks upon the practical operation of the law, in order to show its administration by the ten dollar judges who have been spawned into existence by it, but he would defer those remarks till the subject of the compromise should be taken up.

Mr. Downs, from the same committee, to whom was referred the message of the President, relative to the recent abstraction of public records, reported a bill providing punishment for such offences.

A discussion then took place upon what business should be taken up; and, in reply to a question from Mr. Mangum,

Mr. Hunter said that he would to-morrow urge upon the Senate the necessity of taking up and disposing, one way or the other, of the joint resolution making appropriations for the extension of the Capitol.

Mr. Bradbury insisted upon some action upon the French spoliation bill, and said on Monday he would move to take it up.

The bill fixing the apportionment of representatives for California was then taken up and debated by Messrs. Rhett, Rusk, Davis, Bell, Dawson, Gwin, Weller, Shields, Bradbury, Downs, Hale and others.

The amendment pending was one increasing the whole number of representatives to 231—thus giving South Carolina one for her fraction, and allowing California her present number, two.

Mr. Downs moved an amendment to the amendment, giving an additional member to Louisiana for her fraction.

During the debate the deficiency bill was reported with many amendments.

The debate continued till near 4 o'clock, when, without taking any question, the Senate adjourned.

In the House, on the same day, Mr. Orr, of South Carolina, from the committee, reported a bill granting the right of way and a portion of the public lands towards opening a rail road from St. Mary's river, in Florida, to Pensacola bay.

Mr. Houston, of Alabama, said he understood that one of the sections of the bill went to modify the tariff, by abolishing the duty on rail road iron, and called for the reading of the bill. He contended that the committee had no authority to report on the subject, particularly as it has been referred to the committee of ways and means, which has it under consideration.

Mr. Johnson, of Arkansas, took a different view of the rule; a strict adherence to which, he said, might prevent business of an important character, from being taken up, because the committees to which it more immediately belonged did not think proper to report.

Mr. Clingman coincided with the gentleman from Arkansas, and thought if the committee referred to could report as to rail roads, they might also with reference to rail road iron.

Mr. Bayly, of Virginia, said such a construction as the gentleman from Arkansas had placed upon the rule would lead to endless embarrassment; the reason of the rule being that measures should not be improperly forced upon the House.

The Speaker decided that it was not within the province of the committee on public lands to report a bill embracing a section abolishing the duty on rail road iron, which belonged to the committee on ways and means, and consequently that the bill was out of order.

Mr. Clingman appealed against the decision of the chair, and Mr. Jones having moved that the appeal lie on the table, upon which the yeas and nays were ordered, and the decision was sustained—yeas 125, nays 29.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the homestead bill, when Speeches were delivered by Messrs. Ward and Averett; and then the House adjourned.

In the Senate, on Thursday the 8th, the subject of the Japan expedition was taken up, and remarks were made by Messrs. Borland and Mangum, and the subject was postponed to make way for the bill in relation to the census and representation of California.

The pending question was on an amendment, by Mr. Bradbury, to increase the members of the House to 234, so as to allow California two members, which she now has, and to allow South Carolina another, she having the largest fraction of all the States. Mr. Downs moved to amend, so as to give Louisiana an additional member for her fraction. Messrs. Badger and Geyer spoke in favor of Mr. Bradbury's amendment, and said amendment was in the end agreed to, yeas 23, nays 15. Without any further action, the Senate adjourned.

On the same day the House resumed the consideration of the bill from the Senate to promote and enforce discipline in the Navy; and after being engaged therein for some time, went into Committee of the Whole on the homestead bill, when Mr. Polk took the floor. He spoke in favor of harmony in the Democratic ranks, and then went into the Slavery and Presidential questions.

He then charged that the Whigs are responsible for the agitation of the slavery question; they were responsible for its origin; and they have nourished it, fed it, and stimulated it to the present hour; and if any thing should grow out of it destroying the Republic, to them will belong the blame, and particularly to the Southern Whigs, who, he said, are leagued with the Northern Abolitionists, without whom they would not have strength enough to claim the consideration of a party. The Compromise measures, he insisted, were passed by the votes of men belonging to the Democratic party, with a slight postscript of Whigs, scarcely enough to swear by; and notwithstanding this, the Whigs proclaim to the country that they are the best Compromise men.

He replied to the remarks of Mr. Cabell, of Florida, which were delivered on the first day of the present session, with regard to the action of the Whig Congressional caucus on the subject of the Compromise, saying, among other things, that not one-third of the Whigs approved of it as a finality. As to the Democratic caucus, as there were only eighty-nine out of one hundred and forty-two Democratic members present, it was deemed proper to leave the matter for the action of the Democratic National Convention, which will reflect the popular will.

During the discussion of this subject, Messrs. Fowler, Outlaw, and Marshall, of Kentucky, made explanations as to particular points in controversy.

Mr. Polk, in referring to the Presidency, asked whether the Whigs were merely going to point to General Scott's military acts, and say that the old soldier fought in Mexico; that he has heretofore painted his principles on his banner, but will now refuse to do it. He would ask the gentleman from Kentucky, (Mr. Ward,) who addressed the House yesterday, whether that gallant spirit will refuse to declare what he is for politically? He would ask any Whig whether, if General Scott should be elected, he would sanction any change or modification of the Fugitive Slave law? [A pause.] Is there no voice to answer?

Mr. White of Kentucky, arose. He believed he was authorized to say, from General Scott, that he is opposed to any alteration of any measure contained in the Compromise.

Mr. Polk asked, Will he put this in writing? Does the gentleman feel authorized so to state? Is the gentleman authorized by General Scott to say that, as President, if any such affliction should be brought upon the country, that he would veto a bill for an alteration, amendment or change in the compromise acts, and particularly the Fugitive Slave law?

Mr. Campbell, of Ohio, desired to put a question. He did not speak for any candidate, but he undertook to say that General Scott is a Whig; that he is in favor of the established doctrines of the Whig party, and that no Whig President will veto a bill on the score of expediency alone. Now, he wished to know of the gentleman from Tennessee what Democratic candidate, if any, is pledged to veto, in advance, a law that he himself does not regard in violation of the Constitution? In other words, what Democratic candidate is it who pledges to veto a bill on the score of expediency alone?

Mr. Polk. The gentleman from Kentucky understands General Scott one way, and the gentleman from Ohio another.

Mr. Campbell remarked he expressly said he did not speak for any candidate, but only with respect to what has always been recognised as a Whig doctrine as to the veto power. He hoped the gentleman would now answer his question. Will any one of the candidates of the Democratic party pledge himself, in advance, to veto a bill to change or modify the Fugitive Slave law?

Mr. Polk. Yes, all of them. [Laughter.] In the conclusion of his remarks he condemned the course of the Democratic papers which have severally assailed Buchanan, Marcy, Cass, Douglas, and other prominent gentlemen, and held the editors all alike criminal, although he was for Young America.

The House soon after adjourned.

The Senate was engaged for the most part, on Friday the 9th, in considering the joint resolution making appropriations for the extension of the capitol. The House amendment, increasing the appropriation to $500,000 was concurred in, with an amendment; and the Senate, after considering private bills, and holding an Executive session, adjourned till Monday

The House was engaged, on the same day, in considering private bills. The bill for the relief of the legal representatives of Gen. James O. Watson was debated and passed; and then the House adjourned till Monday.

IMPROVEMENT IN HILLSBOROUGH.

It gives us pleasure to notice the handsome improvement recently made in our town by Dr. S. D. Schoolfield, in the erection of a two story frame building for his Drug Store. The house is well arranged for business; and the chaste design of the building, together with the good taste of the painter, Mr. E. Woods, makes it quite an ornament to the street.—The Dr. intends that the store shall be furnished in a style to correspond with the appearance of the building; and in addition to a full supply of Drugs and Medicines which he is receiving, he has a good selection of handsomely bound Books, and other Fancy Articles, which cannot fail to attract the attention of visitors. His gold fish, which he keeps for ornament, are a novelty with us worth seeing, if one has no other business at the store.

We wish the Dr. great success, and hope that his enterprise will stimulate others to make similar improvements. We should like to see our little town put on the appearance of thrift and liveliness. The advantage would not be in appearance only; it would stimulate into activity a spirit of industry and energy which seldom fails to command success, and we might hope ere long to see our town verging into a degree of prosperity which it has never before known.

Manufactories in Orange. While on the subject of improvements, we propose to notice some which have recently taken place in this county, and which promise, at no distant day, greatly to advance the business and interests of the people.

Messrs. Webbs & Douglass have just completed a Cotton Factory, on Little River, about thirteen miles east of Hillsborough, and are now receiving their Machinery from the North. They expect to commence operations during the summer, and will run 1000 spindles.

Messrs. Robert & John Shields have also erected a Woollen Factory on Enoe, about seven miles East of Hillsborough. The machinery has all been received; and it is expected that they will commence operations in a few days. This we think is the third or fourth Woollen Factory in the State; and we look upon their introduction as of the more importance, because, if we are not much mistaken, if proper facilities are afforded, Western North Carolina will eventually become a great wool-growing country. We hope the location of this Factory in Orange will induce our people to pay more attention to the raising of Sheep; for it is generally conceded to be the most profitable animal we can raise.

Eagle Foundery, owned by Messrs. Brown and Wilkinson, is situated on Enoe, about three miles East of Hillsborough. It has been in operation only a short time, and its ingenious and enterprising proprietors are constantly adding improvements. We are gratified to learn that the demand for their work is quite equal to their ability at present to meet it.

Messrs. Dickson & Brown's establishment, for manufacturing Wool-Carding Machines, Wheat Fans &c., is situated on Enoe river, about six miles east of Hillsborough. In to-day's paper will be found their advertisement, to which we invite attention.

To these we may add Mr. R. F. Webb's establishment for manufacturing Window Blinds, a handsome article, of which we have before spoken; and the Rev. John A. McMannen's establishment at South Lowell, at which are manufactured Smut Machines, which we see, by frequent mention in our exchanges, are obtaining considerable celebrity in the State on account of their excellence. He also manufactures Patent Corn Shellers, &c., which are in good repute.

There may be other manufactories in the county which have recently been commenced, but they do not occur to us just now. These, though few in number, form quite a respectable beginning, and furnish sufficient data upon which to build a reasonable calculation of the prosperity that must attend a well-directed energy when our Railroad is put in operation. Hillsboro' Recorder.

Magnificent Steamer. The North River and Western Steamers, splendid as many of them are, will have to knock under to the "Light of Heaven" steamer, just built at Glasgow for the Pacha of Egypt. Heretofore the British have sought utility rather than show in the construction of their steamers, but the wealth and taste of the owner of this new steamer has given them an opportunity to demonstrate that they are not deficient in ornamental skill. Mr. Kendal, in one of his letters, describes this floating palace:

"Cleopatra's famed galleys could not begin," says he, "to surpass the 'Light of Heaven' in magnificence, and she is destined to run on the Nile as the Pacha's own pleasure boat. Her engines are of 300 horse power, and of the most beautiful make and finish. The fittings of the interior are gorgeous beyond comparison, consisting of papier mache ornaments and rich brocaded silks, which will alone cost $250,000. The ceiling of the saloon will be divided into a number of panels of rich white silk, having upon the centre the device of the crescent and the star, encircled with most elaborate and richly colored wreaths of Eastern flowers, of silk. The borders of the panels are to be richly ornamented with Raffaelesque decorations. Other portions of the ceiling, between the beams, are to be covered with silk of a white ground and groups of flowers of gold thread. The panels on the sides are of papier mache. The ottomans in the saloon are covered with cloth of gold, formed with a warp of gold and a weft of glass thread. The awning of the deck is to be formed entirely of rich brocaded silk, the fringe being of gold, and costing twenty guineas per yard. The cost of the silk for the awning alone will not be less than $10,000."

Washington, April 8, 1852.

There is now a fair fight between the Fillmore and Seward or Scott wings of the Whig party, which it would be an act of impiety to disturb. A Whig caucus is to be held to-morrow evening; great events may happen which no human wisdom can foreshadow. Gen. Scott, it is now asserted, can concentrate in himself the whole Freesoil vote of the Northern States as a centre of operation, with the Maine liquor law and Seward intervention acting as the right and left wings of his army. One wing is expected to capture the sober, native, home population, and the other, commanded by Seward and Thurlow Weed, will be composed of the entire foreign adopted citizens, consisting of Irishmen, Germans, Dutch, Swedes, Norwegians, French, Spanish and Portuguese.

The Southern division, small but select and well appointed, consisting entirely of veterans, divided into three brigades, commanded, respectively, by Messrs. Jones, Mangum, and Stanly, are intended to keep the State-rights men in check, while the real battle will be fought in the three great States of New York, Pennsylvania, and Ohio.

He is only a Mechanic. How frequently is this remark made by aristocratic upstarts, who have nothing to recommend them save their money and impudence, when the name of an honest and intelligent mechanic happens to be mentioned in their presence. They consider it degrading to associate with those who do not, like themselves, possess wealth, even though that wealth was obtained by the most rascally means. Nothing is so disgusting to well-bred, well-informed people, as to hear an ignorant conceited, puffed-up, long-haired, brainless, impudent dandy, talk about mechanics, as if they were brutes.

No true lady or gentleman would be guilty of such littleness. It is only the ignorant, spoiled beauty—the worthless, contemptible soaplock who would do so. Show us the man or woman who would consider it a disgrace to associate with honest, well informed mechanics, and we will show you a worthless, ignorant conceited creature, useless to himself and the world, and a disgrace and encumberance to his friends. West. Lit. Mess.

Gov. Wright, the democratic candidate for the Gubernatorial chair of Indiana, is emphatically a working man. He made a speech as a candidate for Governor, in a Court-House in Indiana, every brick of which was made by him.

Correspondence of the Standard.

Asheville, April 5, 1852.

Thunder in the Mountains!—Old Buncombe Right side up!!—The "Unterrified" Undismayed!!

It may seem strange to you, Mr. Editor, to hear of a Democratic Meeting in Buncombe, and one pledging itself to Free Suffrage by Legislative enactment, and repudiating a Convention as a trick of the enemy, intended to distract and divide our ranks and send us off "in search of strange gods."

But strange as it may seem to you, and unwelcome as may be the sound that will roll down on the ears of Eastern whigs, it is nevertheless true that the Democracy of Buncombe did hold a Meeting last Thursday—none of your little pinched up, three-voters meetings either, but a large assembly of "the faithful and unterrified," as our opponents derisively but very appropriately term us. The proceedings and Resolutions of the Meeting will appear in the Asheville and Rutherfordton papers, and we know you will take pleasure in transferring them to your columns as you are requested to do. We know you will feel proud to prolong and spread wider the roar of this first Mountain Democratic Gun, as its echoes rebound from our lofty peaks to roll through the hills and valleys of the centre, and then spread in gentle, heart-cheering undulations along the Eastern coast. And as your readers will have the benefit of seeing the proceedings in full, I will not attempt a synopsis of them, but will try to give you some idea of the spirit that animates the Mountain Democracy.

The Convention humbug has exploded, and its design is manifest. We see that its aim was to divide our party in the West and to kill Free Suffrage. Even the whigs themselves are abandoning it, and those who will be candidates for the next Legislature will, in most if not all the Counties, pledge themselves to vote for the Free Suffrage bill as it passed at the last session. I confess that I had felt some misgivings, some fears that a portion of the Democratic party in the West would be led astray by the Convention hobby, but these fears have been dispelled. Not only does the Democratic party remain firm and united, but hundreds, and probably thousands of the republican Whigs will vote with them. I find a disposition among the liberal, honest masses of the late whig party to break loose from their old federal leaders and join the ranks of the Democracy. They begin to see that their party has abandoned all its old issues—conceded them—and that it is now struggling to keep alive by duplicity and humbuggery. They see that the Convention cry is raised and kept up by those who four years ago were so "conservative"—so opposed to changing the Constitution in any particular, that they were horrified at the idea of incorporating Free Suffrage in it, lest it should lead to other changes. Now those are the very men who profess to be in favor of tearing it all to pieces, rooting up its very foundations, and constructing an entirely new one! I say profess, for their sole object is (or was) to keep up the Convention cry until the Free Suffrage bill is killed, well knowing that it is impossible to get a Convention, even if the Western people desired it, which they do not. This is the whole aim and object of that measure, including, of course, the restoration to power of those who would so shamefully abuse it after having resorted to such unworthy means to obtain it. The people see through it clearly.

It is gratifying, Mr. Editor, to reflect, that while the so-called Whig party of the State is split and rent into almost as many fragments as there are leaders and office-seekers in it, the Democracy stands a unit. While the Eastern Whig rolls up great swelling words to his Western brethren, and the Western Whig hurls back defiance—while the elements of discord are surging wildly through their ranks and producing a beautiful state of "confusion, worse confounded"—all stirred up with a long Convention pole "with a (hum)bug on the end of it,"—the ranks of Democracy are unbroken from Cherokee to Currituck, their files are close and compact, and one aim, one spirit, one purpose animates every heart, and every one is determined to do his duty. The Western Democrat takes his Eastern brother by the hand, and each speaks words of cheer to the other.

But while I am willing to concede great praise to the Eastern Democracy, I must claim an equal share and greater fortitude for the "unterrified" of the West. We have fought unwearedly for years and years, even when no ray of hope that we should be victorious illumined our way and cheered us on. Our Eastern brethren have had cause to rejoice at, at least, partial victories; but until very recently we have striven without hope, opposed by odds that would have driven us from the field if we had not been the "unterrified." Nothing but the consciousness that our principles were right, were just, and therefore eternal, could have sustained us under defeat after defeat, multiplied and heaped upon us. "Snowed under," crowed over, derided, hooted at and despised by our proud and numerous foes, we still rallied, closed our ranks, and prepared for another onset. At last the charging columns, so accustomed to victory as to deem it a thing of course, have recoiled in confusion and their retreat is fast becoming a rout. The assailed have now become the assailants, and the strange but joyful cry of victory has rung along our well formed line. We know the enemy, smarting under a sense of their former defeat, are rallying all their strength, resorting to every stratagem and artifice, and collecting all their strength for a last desperate effort next August, to regain their losses; but we stand ready for them, prepared, undismayed, "unterrified," confident of a full and complete victory. With DAVID S. REID as our standard bearer, we feel that we are invincible; and with "Free Suffrage" inscribed on both sides of our banner, we will not know defeat.

Greeting, then, to our brethren of the East; and for every shout they send up to the mountains, we will answer with one, if not altogether so loud and long as theirs, at least so much so that they will not mistake it for the mere echo of their own.

I am, Mr. Editor, (and there are hundreds like me,)

A LIVE DEMOCRAT.

Early Musical Education in Germany. In visiting the school at Schwalbach, the first room we came to was that of the girls, who were all learning astronomy. A strange preparation, thought I, for the after life of a Nassau female. Who would think that the walking masses, half grass, half woman, one meets every day in the fields and lanes would be able to tell whether the earth moved round the sun, or the sun round the earth, or if the moon were any bigger than their own reaping hooks? We asked the master to allow us to hear them sing. Great was the delight of the little maidchens when this request was made known; there was an universal brightening of faces and shuffling of leaves; the pedagogue took down an old violin from a peg where it hung, and accompanied their sweet voices in a pretty, simple air, which they sung in parts, and from the notes.

The next room was full of little boys, between six and eight years of age. They sang a hymn for us, the simple words of which were very touching. As I stood behind one dear little fellow, "hardly higher than the table," I understood how it was that the Germans were a nation of musicians, and that in listening to the rude songs of the peasants at their work, the ear is never shocked by the drawling, untaught style of the same class of people in our country.—From the time they are able to lisp, they are made to sing by note. My little friend in the ragged blouse, and all the other children, had the music, as well as the words they were singing, in their hands, written on sheets of paper; they followed the time as correctly as possible, marking with their little fingers on the page the crotchets, quavers, rests, &c.

At Leipsic, the most un-English trait, I gathered during my speculations at the window this evening, was a group of little boys playing in the grass-plot outside. They were all poor, and a few stockingless, and were engaged in some uproarious game, when in the middle of it, the little urchins burst into the most harmonious melody, each taking his part, soprano, tenor, bass, &c., with exquisite correctness. I saw them jump up, and linking each other's arms in true school-boy fashion, sally down the street, vociferating their song in such time and tune, that, but for my initiation into the mystery at the Schwalbach scool, I should have stared at them as so many little wonders. What a delightful system is this music! as early and as indispensable a branch of education as the A. B. C.

Souvenirs of a Summer in Germany.

We heard the following interesting conversation, a few days since, between two candidates for academic honor:

"Bill, spell cat, rat, hat, fat, with only one letter for each word."

"It can't be did."

"What! you just ready to report verbatim, phonotically, and can't do that? Just look here: c 80 (eighty) cat, r 80 rat, h 80 hat, b 80 bat, f 80 fat."

TELEGRAPHED FOR THE STANDARD.

Washington, April 13, 1852.

The House of Representatives refused yesterday to entertain Resolutions offered by Mr. Brown of Mississippi, forbidding the Committee on Printing to take the contract from Hamilton and give it to the Union office for the House, and the Republic office for the Senate.

The Committee on Printing had recommended this course, that is, to take the printing of the two Houses from Hamilton, who, it is alleged, does not comply with his contract, and give it to the two offices above mentioned; and Mr. Borland has resigned his place on the Committee on account of it.

The prices to be paid the new contractors are to correspond with the bid of John C. Rives two years ago. There is much excitement here about the printing. W.

Later from Texas—The State Conventions.

New Orleans, April 6. The steamships West Wind, from Chagres, and the Yacht and Meteor, from Texas, arrived to-day. The dates from Texas are to the 2d. The Whig and Democratic State Conventions both passed resolutions to adhere to the compromise measures. The former passed a resolution complimentary to the administration of Mr. Fillmore, and the latter resolved to support the Baltimore Convention nominee.

Still Later from Texas—American Steamboat Fired upon by the Mexicans.

New Orleans, April 7th. Late advices from Texas report that the steamer Camanche, while ascending the Rio Grande with forty passengers, including many ladies, and also General Carvajal, was fired upon by the Mexican soldiers from the bank of the river. The shot struck the boat, but luckily no lives were lost. The shots were probably intended for Carvajal. The outrage had excited much indignation on the part of the Americans.

Missouri Democratic Convention.

St. Louis, April 8. The Democratic Convention at Jefferson City adjourned sine die yesterday, after passing resolutions in favor of the Compromise, and reaffirming the Democratic platform of 1848. Sterling Price, after a fierce contest, was nominated for Governor over T. M. Price, (Benton.) The balance of the State ticket was divided equally between the Bentonites and anti-Bentonites. Montgomery Blair was elected delegate to the National Convention, with instructions to support Cass and Butler.

A Great Invention.

Washington, April 9. A new light has been introduced to the public to day by E. M. It was tested in the presence of a number of scientific gentlemen, who were unanimous in expressing their opinion of its superior merits. All who witnessed this self-generating light consider it a great discovery.

THE NOVELTY IRON WORKS.

TO my old friends and the public generally, I am pleased to say, that I am now prepared at my new Establishment, the Novelty Works, to execute in the very best manner, Locomotive and Stationary Engines, Saw and Grist Mills, Mill Gearing, Machinery of every description, Iron and Brass Castings in every variety, Screw Cutting, of any desired length and calibre; having the most improved machinery for the purpose to be found North or South.

I employ none but the very best workmen, and expect to put out none but the very best work.

The Novelty Works are under the exclusive management of a practical Machinist, Mr. H. G. BRUCE, who has no superior as an Engineer and Machinist in any country. This establishment was erected exclusively for the benefit of the Citizens of North Carolina, and I can assure them that they need not go out of the State for anything in the above line of business, as I challenge the World to produce a finer STEAM ENGINE or a better MILL than can be purchased at my establishment.

I am now manufacturing several large and small Steam Engines, for Saw Mills to which, and to my facilities for manufacturing them, I would respectfully, call the attention of the public.

"Eagle Hotel," Chapel Hill, for Sale.

THE Proprietress of this well known and profitable establishment, having realized a sufficient income to warrant her in resuming the quiet of a private life, offers to the public generally the opportunity of bidding for its advantages.

The citizens of the State are so well acquainted with the advantages of its position, that but few remarks are necessary to complete their information.

The Hotel itself possesses all the requirments of room and comfort, which its purchasers can desire. It has capacity for the accommodation of one hundred and fifty boarders, and the recent and rapid growth of the University, adjacent, makes it an easy matterto possess such or even a greater number of students.

In addition to this, the frequent travel through Chapel Hill gives the Hotel, (being the only one in the place) a transient custom equal to any in the State.

The lots and stables adjoining are extensive and commodious, and the country-market supplies abundantly and on profitable terms much of its provisions.

The terms of sale require one third of the price to be paid on taking possession. A note, with safe security and time of payment suited to the convenience of the purchaser, are the reasonable demands for the remainder.

If further information be desired concerning the inducements to purchase, the President of the University or any other resident of the village, will furnish it.

Possession can be obtained at any time, after the 1st of May. Apply to ANNE S. HILLIARD.

Important to Millers & Mill Owners.

THE Undersigned would respectfully inform those engaged in the Milling Business in N. C., that he keeps constantly on hand, and will supply at the shortest notice, that almost invaluable article

YOUNG'S IMPROVED PATENT SMUT AND SCREENING MACHINE.

The only Machine of the kind that has stood the test and given satisfaction to the public. It has surplanted every Smut Machine yet offered in the State, more or less of which has been taken down to make room for it. The public need fear no imposition, as there are now some 280 Machines running in N. C.; and I wish to offer no other references than the gentlemen who are using them, whose expectations have been more than realized in their performance. It not only thoroughly cleanses the Wheat of smut, but also purifies it of all other substances, almost to perfection. It takes up but 4 feet square in the Mill, and requires but little power. It is warranted for five years against breaking or wearing out, and also to retain its cleaning qualities for that time.

There are a number of these Machines through which 100,000 bushels of Wheat have been cleaned, and they have never been out of order one day.

There was awarded to it the Premium at the Maryland State Fair, and a Premium with a Silver Medal, at the Fair of the Maryland Institute, at Baltimore, last Fall.

Leather at Wholesale and Retail.

WE respectfully announce to our friends and the trade, generally, that we have determined to spare no efforts on our part to give Petersburg a Leather and Finding Establishment, whose stock shall compare favorably with that of any house, North or South. We are receiving from the importers and manufacturers of the Northern Cities one of the largest and best selected stocks we have ever known in this market, and we pledge ourselves to sell our goods as low as any South of New York, and many articles as low, if not lower, than they are to be had, even there, as we have now in full operation a large and well arranged Tannery, from which we shall be receiving Leather regularly.

We have also Brogans of our own manufacture, which we warrant a superior article.

Also, Shoemakers' Tools and Lasts, together with many other articles usually found in similar establishments, all of which will be sold in accordance with the above statement; and the only way we can prove this, is for purchasers to come and examine for themselves, and we shall be content to abide the result.
